Ann-Louise Lökholm Klasson new President of Sweco Sweden

Ann-Louise Lökholm Klasson has been appointed new President of Sweco Sweden and will join the Group Executive Team. She has worked in several of Sweco's divisions since 2008 and will replace Åsa Bergman, who has been appointed new President and CEO of Sweco.

"With Ann-Louise, we will have a president with a strong business drive, profound understanding of our customers and a keen focus on our employees. I am convinced that she will make a solid contribution to the Group Executive Team," says Tomas Carlsson, President and CEO.

Ann-Louise Lökholm Klasson previously served as division manager of the building service systems division, where the business had an annual growth rate of 10-15 per cent and with organisational size expanding from 350 to 500 employees during her five-year tenure. She was responsible for the integration of Grontmij 2015 and has served most recently as division manager of the civil engineering division.

"This is very exciting, and I am delighted with this vote of confidence. I look forward to continue developing Sweco Sweden so that we remain the preferred choice for customers and employees," says Ann-Louise Lökholm Klasson.

"I am very pleased that Ann-Louise will be taking over as President of Sweco Sweden. She is a highly experienced and valued leader, and the ideal person to navigate the business towards continued success," says Åsa Bergman.

Ann-Louise Lökholm Klasson will take over as President of Sweco Sweden on 20 April.
