13 September 2011

Sweco acquires Inmind

Sweco has acquired the consulting firm of Inmind. The company has 11 employees and offers qualified consulting services in Intelligent Transport Systems (ITS). Inmind has offices in Gothenburg and Stockholm.

“Inmind’s core expertise in ITS will strengthen our offering to clients in this area and together we will be market-leading in ITS at both the regional and national level,” says Johan Dozzi, President of Sweco Infrastructure in Sweden.

Inmind offers qualified consulting services and works primarily in client support with a focus on advice, procurement and construction management. Inmind’s clients are found in both the public and private sectors.

“Sweco and Inmind have a service offering in ITS where we complement each other extremely well, which will benefit our clients. At the same time, our customers will have new opportunities to develop in a large company,” says Inmind’s President Jonas Åberg.
